- 14. In spite of very intensive efforts, the Communists have great difficulties 50X1-HUM recruiting new supporters. The reason is no doubt the very serious economic situation of the population. It can be stated almost without exaggeration that the Communist Party in Bulgaria recruits new supporters from its own circles, from among families who already belong to the Party, and has a very small influx from out 50X1-HUM
- It is a fact that the Party has a very strong organization and uses strict disjox1-HUM This discipline is obvious only to the minority of the members while the majority accepts it mechanically.

 a great number of the Communists are reacted die for their beliefs. Part of them, especially young ones, really believe in a great number of the Communists are ready the Communist doctrine. The most intensive propaganda efforts are directed towards them. They really believe that, although the situation today is very difficult, it is going to be ideal in the future, and it is even worth dying for this dream. There are others who are 'okaleni' (engaged in dirty work) and realize that they have no way out but just to go on because the end of the Communist regime will mean the end of their personal lives so they will defend it until they die. It is a recognized tactic of the Communist Party to put as many people as possible in such a position this is also why there are so many purges in the Party. almost the whole team which took an active part in bloody massacres after 9 Sept 44 has been dismissed. These people will always remain at the disposal of the Party because for them there is no way out.
- 16. It is the peasant population which is the most oppressed and therefore the most dissatisfied. This is where resistance is the greatest. The country masses are counting on the restoration in future of the Peasant Party; one-third of this population is supporting Dr G M Dimitrov, the other one-third are supporters of a n50X1-HUM moderate Peasant Party, who believe that when the moment of liberation comes a successor to Nikola Petkow will spring up in the country and lead the Party. The Communists pay very close attention to former Peasant Party leaders and the majority of inmates in labor camps are from these ranks.
- 50X1-HUM

 17. A large number of people were released from labor camps in October 1953. In the district of Stara Zagora the following Peasant Party leaders were released, among others: Mintcho Drandarewski and Muntcho Ilief. Other more active leaders did 50X1-HUM remain in the camps, however, like brothers Slavi and Dimitar Popignatof.

 Dec 537, labor camps were still operating in Bulgaria
- Regenlyk Data 50X1-HUM The remaining one-third of the peasant population are supporters of all other parties, 18. including the non-party system which was popular in Bulgaria before 9 Sept 44. Before the revolution of 19 May 34 in Bulgaria, there was a great decadency in the party setup of the country and, as a result, a large percentage of the population received the introduction of a non-party system with a sigh of relief. Many people remember that they were much better off when there were no Communists and no parties, and they dream of a return to this system. These are mostly radical people, while thinking people realize that once Communism collapses, the population will not go back to old patterns and that the system will be different than it used to be. It will not be possible to erase with one stroke all the changes introduced into the country's economy by the Communists. There will have to be a transitional period and adjustment to new conditions. Dr Dimitrov's program is too radical. It supports conditional private property, maintaining of kolkhozes and nationalization of industry. The Bulgarian peasant does not want any kolkhozes, is greatly attached to his land, and does not want any half-solutions.

of Bulgaria. They are supporters take a definite stand on a future political system of Bulgaria. They are supporting a republic. For the rest of the population this problem does not exist at present.

first it will be necessary to liberate the country from Communism, and only then can it be decided by the 50X1-HUM people themselves what political system will be adopted. Even Dimitrov's supporters do not engage in any active propaganda for the republic and do not have quarrels with the rest of the population on this matter. They are all united in their desire for liberation first.

Emigres

20. "The population does not know much about the exiles and what they are doing. People think that they are united, just as united as the whole nation, that they defend the Bulgarian interests in the West, and that in a future conflict they will march in the forefront of the liberating forces. The Communists try to talk and write as little as possible about the exiles. The Bulgarians know nothing about all the divisions among the emigres."
